case of the Crown Point Mining company vs. the Ontario Silver Mining mr. Richard A. Parker, one of the consulting engineers who examined the centennial-Eureka property, says the claim is preposterous. The Centennial-Eureka has been shipping only a small amount of ore from the Silver Gem channel. Its main ore body is located 1,200 to 1,400 feet south of the main shaft. would be the case, was denied, so the only course now left open to the plaintiff company is to appeal to the sutiff company is to appeal to the supreme court of the United States or accept the verdict of the circuit court. It will be remembered that the plaintiff company such the Ontario for an amount which under the different counts footed up to nearly $2,000,000, for the unlawful extraction of ores from the Crown Point and Munador mining claims, adjoining the Ontario, at Park City. When the case came to trial plaintiff receded from its claims as regarded the Crown Point claim, and sought to recover only on alleged trespass and extraction of ores from the Munador, the law of apex and extra lateral rights being the points involved.

The American Mines Company Incorporated For That Purpose.

For the purpose of conducting a general mining development business the American Mines company was incorporated in this city yesterday with a capital of $125,000, in 25-cent shares.

Arthur Buckbee is president; F. G. Janney, vice president; John W. Burton, secretary and treasurer; and Joseph Dederichs and D. P. Rohlfing are the other directors. The company owns the Gold Blossom Quartz group of three claims, Charleston, Wake-up-as regarded the Crown Point claim, and sought to recover only on alleged trespass and extraction of ores from the Munador, the law of apex and extra lateral rights being the points involved.

The case was tried before Judge Hallett and a jury, and a verdict for a triffic over $32,000 was rendered.

Plaintiff shortly afterwards filed an application for a new trial, and the petitioners were heard by Julre Hallett in Denver a few weeks ago. Sevelal reasons were advanced by plaintiff's attorneys why the rehearing should be allowed, chief among which were the instructions of the court, to the jury, after they had been deliberating or nearly two days without having reached an agreement that "a wrongful verdict would be better than no verdict at all," and the resultant agreement to allow damages as stated. What the next move will be can hardly be determined before President. Pat Ryan of the Crown Point company reaches the city. He is now in Chicago and may not return for several days.

AT THE QUINCY.

Janney, vice president; John W. Burton, secretary and treasurer; and Joseph Dederichs and D. P. Robling are the other directors. The company of three claims, Charleston, Wake-up-Jim, Clara Leah, Senate, Senator, Sho-shone and Pocahontas lode claims, all situated in Shoshone county, Ida.

A $13,000,000 MINING DEAL.

That Sum to Be Paid For the Camp Bird Mine.

Denver, Sept. 17.—The News anounces this morning that Mr. Thomas F. Walsh will receive $13,000,000 for his Camp Bird mine at Ouray, Colo., from a syndicate of English and American investors headed by Alfred Bert, the South African diamond king, and J. Pierpont Morgan, the New York banker.

It is said that a draft covering the first National bark. John Hays Hammond, the mining expert, arrived at Shaft Down Nearly 400 Feet-To Cross-cut the Ledge.

W. Mont Ferry is back from a business trip to the Park. Regarding the Quincy, he says the shaft is now down close to the 400-foot level, at which point cross cutting to the ledge will commence. At the same time sinking will continue and at 450 feet, or thereabouts, it is expected the shaft will drop into the contact. Mr. Ferry says the belief is general that the Quincy will prove to be a mine with depth.

The Anchor, he says, is looking better than it has done in a lorg time and the mill is doing remarkably fine work. Quincy, he says the shaft is now down

BULLION-BECK'S NEW CHUTE.

Manager Farnsworth Expects to Cut It On the 500 Any Moment.

Speaking of conditions as he found em at the Bullion-Beck on Sunday, Manager Farnsworth stated yesterday Manager Farnsworth stated yesterday that the shaft on the Muldoon claim was now down 290 feet in the ore chute discovered on the surface. At two or three points in sinking that distance the shaft passed through comparatively barren spots, but a few feet of drifting one way or the other had invariably brought the ore again. The cross cut from the main drift on the 500 level of the old working had been advanced forty feet when he left, and he looked for word that the ore chute had been opened down there at any moment.

now out in that same country and if the chute goes down, as Mr. Farns-worth is confident if will, another strike may be added at any time.

The big power plant is now under cover, all the machinery for it has been delivered on the ground and a very few days will see it completed and ready to go into commission. The 3,000-foot flume is finished as is also the 1,800-foot three-rail gravity tramway between the mouth of the present working tunnel and the mill.

The tram, Mr. Huck says, is a very fine piece of work and has an elevation of 400 feet in its length. The No. 5 tunnel, which has its starting just back of the new mill and which is designed to be the main working avenue of the mine when it shall have been opened to a depth of 1,500 feet. Mr. Huck says a great army of carpenters and other mechanics are now busily engaged in hurring all work to completion and when they are finally through the company will have a plant that at least will be the equal of any similar mill in the west if it does not excell them all in its up-to-date appointments.

CENTENNIAL-EUREKA AFFAIRS. Dividends to Be Cut Down-Breezy Gossip From Boston End.

There is no question but that the Centennial-Eureka Mining company will reduce its dividend. All the members of the board with the exception of one director favor a reduction from $1 to 75 cents per share in the quar-

$1 to 75 cents per share in the quarterly rate and one director favors a reduction to 50 cents. Directors will meet next Tuesday to take action.

The Centennial-Eureka Mining company has no debt, but it has a very small cash surplus. This surplus amounted to but about $20,000 after the payment of the last dividend.

The largest owners of the property have felt that the company should accumulate a larger cash surplus and to this end have recommended that the

The largest owners of the property have felt that the company should accumulate a larger cash surplus and to this end have recommended that the dividend be reduced to 75 cents per quarter.

Under the company's contract with the American Smelting & Refining company it can just about earn $4 per share per year. This contract is not considered a specially advantageous one by reason of the high cost for treatment of its ores; in fact, there has been some talk of an endeavor being made to break the contract, but such a step is unlikely.

The Centennial-Eureka Mining company is said to be in a better physical condition than ever before. For every ton of ore that has been taken out two tons have been opened up. It is estimated that the ore in sight—about a six years' output at present rate of production—will show net profits of $2,500,000.

"All talk of a consolidation with the United States Mining company is non-sense. There is no consolidation likely, so far as oresent intentions are concerned, and if such a combination should at any time be effected, I and my friends control a sufficient amount of stock to defeat any measure which was not to the benefit of the Centennial-Eureka shareholders."

No suit has been brought against the Centennial-Eureka Mining company to recover damages for the alleged extraction of ore belonging to the Eureka Hill company, as reported. Such a rumor has been clurrent for some time. Titles to the Centennial-Eureka were passed upon by the leading mining claim lawyer of Salt Lake City and are, declared perfect. The claim is that the Silver Gem vein on the Eureka Hill property apexes on the Centennial-Eureka and the latter company has been extracting ore which did not belong to it.

DALY SELLS AT $2.20 AND STAR T. E. GIBBON IS OBTAINING SENTIMENT IN SALT LAKE.

> The absorbing question in connection with the proposed line from Salt Lake to the Pacific coast is whether or not the people of Salt Lake will turn over to the promoters of the great project the Pioneer park.

> It is mainly for the purpose of learning the sentiment among business men as to this that T. E. Gibbon came on in advance of the others at the head of the enterprise, and upon the success of his mission largely depends the construction of the line. Mr. Gibbon was asked outright last night if the project would go through if the request of the incorporators was turned down. He replied

"We have not thought of failure. We believe we are not asking too much of the people of Salt Lake, and we further believe they will so understand it. If we do not get the Pioneer square for depot facilities, however, I am not in a position to say what will further be done as to the construction of the line. There will be an unnecessary delay at the outset, should the city fail to grant us this request."

Pioneer park, so named and dedicated to the memory of the Utah pioneers on July 25, 1898, "for all time," is the block lying between Third and Fourth South and Second and Third West streets. Twice it has been donated by the city, which owns it, for railroad purposes, and twice the city has been disappointed in seeing, no company make a big enough start to warrant the erection of a depot.

Was Donated Twice.

Was Donated Twice. Was Donated Twice.

The first occasion was some seven or eight years ago when James H. Bacon proposed putting a railroad through to Deep Creek. The Pioneer block, or "Old Eighth ward square," as it was then popularly known, being the spot upon which the Pioneers first pitched camp, was turned over to the Bacon people on condition that they complete the line to Deep Creek within a given time. From there on the people were to take chances on its construction, but it was all the while intended to be a part of a coast line. The Bacon syndicate failed to live up to its contract and the property reverted to the city again.

Five years ago the square was given to the company headed by the late Abraham H. Cannon and George Q. Cannon for the same purpose exactly. Cannon for the same purpose exactly, the construction of a line as far as Deep Creek. The incorporators were granted eighteen months in which to have the line completed to the point named. They also failed, and three years ago this fall the contract under which they held the property was revoked.

The year following, 1896, just one year after the great Pioneer jubilee, the park was formally dedicated to the pioneers, and the question that now arises is whether the city will rescind its action after having set apart the property as a public partk.

IS A SHORT ROUTE. Mr. Smith of the Burlington Talks of That Road's Operations.

Assistant General Passenger Agent Arthur B. Smith of the Burlington was in Salt Lake from Omaha yesterday. Mr. Smith feels much elated over the successful opening of the Burlington's line from Denver to the Black Hills He says it is the safest, shortest and best line from the Colorado metropolis to Deadwood. "We are running limited trains from Denver to Deadwood," said Mr. Smith, "and we propose to have everything first-class. Under the present schedule we leave Denver at 11:30 p. m. and arrive in Deadwood early the next night. We leave Deadwood at 8 o'clock in the morning and reach Denver that in the morning and reach Denver that evening.

"The road is almost an air line. It will open up and develop some rich country for catile raising in the North Platte valley, and it taps the mineral region of the Black Hills. The building of the road will make it possible to work mines that could not be worked before on account of the excessive wagon haul charges and will benefit the country in many ways.

"It would be a good thing for Salt Lake and Utah people to take a look into the territory tapped by our new road. They might get in on some good propositions which have been undeveloped thus far because of the lack of transportation facilities."

Mr. Smith spoke of the line the Burlington is building from Toluca into the Big Horn basin in Wyoming. This road, as well as the Black Hills line, has been already of immense benefit to the settlers. It has been the policy of the company to give the work of grading and everything else possible to actual residents and thus enable them to lay by some money for the winter season. A good many thousand dollars were distributed in this way and the people who live along the line of the road feel very kindly toward the and the people who live along the line of the road feel very kindly toward the

SHORT LINE EXTENSION.

Incorporated to Build Forty Miles In Wyoming. (Special to The Herald.) Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 17 .- The Wyoming & Western Railroad company was incorporated here today by officials of the Oregon Short Line Railroad company. The capital stock is placed at $3,000,000, and it is the purpose of the new company to build and operate a railroad from a point on the Oregon Short Line near Kemmerer to a point on the Union Pacific between Evanston and Piedmont. The line will be forty miles in length, and will tap extensive coal fields south of Kemmerer and the new coal mines of the Union Pacific new being operated at was incorporated here today by offi-

Happy Hollow, between Evanston and Piedmont on the Leroy cut-off.

This project was mentioned sometime ago, but the exact route to be taken was not given then. Work was ago and a large force of graders are now throwing up the roadbed south from Kemmerer. It has been given out that the line would be built only to the coal mines known as No. 4, fifteen miles south of Kemmerer, but the papers filed today indicate that the road will be pushed on to a connection with the Union Pacific at Happy Hollow at an early day.

No Legal Obstacle.

Mr. Gibbon, who is an eminent legal scholar, stated last evening that he saw no legal obstacle. In his opinion, the matter is one of sentiment and it is within the power of the city council to donate the ground.

"T have met a great many representative men of the community today," said he, "and have received nothing but the warmest encouragement. They seem to believe that no fairy tale is connected with the proposition and that it really means the construction of a Salt Lake railroad. We have not thought of making a move until we have received the Pioneer square, nor have we thought of failing in that."

Asked if any other piece of ground would do, Mr. Gibbon said that matter had been given little thought.

CLERK IN TROUBLE.

Young Woman Has Him Arrested

On Serious Charge. Charles E. Schwartz, a clerk well known about town, was arrested last night by Officer Roberts on a warrant sworn out of Judge Timmony's court charging him with fornication. The young woman in the case, who is the complaining witness, is Miss Lottie Hammond, a dressmaker. The crime is alleged to have taken place in Salt Lake a number of months ago, and the girl is in a delicate condition.

girl is in a delicate condition.

She claims that Schwartz seduced her while treating her for deafness, under the pretense that he was a mesmeristic healer. Recently he has been at Malad, and it is alleged he wrote Miss Hammond an incriminating letter, asking her to meet him last night at 8 o'clock on the corner of South Temple and H streets. Instead, she came to the police station and the warrant was issued. officer Roberts prepared to fill the date for her and got on a car at 7:45 with the girl, finding Schwartz also a passenger. He was accompanied by a Dr. Hadley of Malad. The party entered the police station a moment later. Schwartz secured bonds of $500.

IN THE POLICE COURT.

One Zim Bug-that was the name the jailer got-was before Judge Timmony yesterday upon the charge of drunk-enness. It required an interpreter to secure Zim's plea, the interpreter hand-ing him a line of nursery talk something like this:

"Vat oo full Satoorday?" Zim answered "yas." The court re-eased him.

John Walker, a bootblack 19 years of age, pleaded guilty to the same charge. He said he was from Denver. The court thought Walker was rather young to be inebriated, but allowed him to go on his way.

Frank Rice, the fellow who was found in Darlington Place supporting a five-gallon coal oil can on his cranium and making the Sabbath a terrible nightmare for the residents of the district, assured the court there was nothing the matter with him except that he had been sick in Denver, where he belonged. Rice said he had "no money to get work with." which statement made a hit with the Monday rabble out in the arena. It was shown that the demented man was in the habit of throwing fits in the jail the habit of throwing fits in the jail and he was ordered taken in hand by the sheriff as a subject for the probate

After being led downstairs Rice went through a one-act drama all by himself, declaring at the jag house door, with more truth than poetry: "I go back to hell."

William McCarty, who had raised about $\$ in alms on the pretense that his left hand was crippled by being caught in an elevator, tried hard for his liberty. He claimed to be a bell hop on his way to Seattle. He had first been observed with his hand all tangled up in itself on Second South. Dr. George Sheets happened along, and making an examination of the member found it to be in perfect condition. Mc was then thrown in jail. On the charge of vagrancy he was given forty days and a severe roast. The court named him a leech.
